ABOUT THE ORCHESTRA. . .

1986 marks the twenty-first season of the Anchorage Youth Symphony. Founded in 1965 by Frank Pinkerton to provide young musicians with the opportunity to perform the works of the great composers, the Symphony has since flourished. It has toured many cities in Alaska, California, the Washington, D.C. area, Canada, Great Britain, Australia, and New Zealand. Conducted by Dewey Ehling from 1978 to 1986, the Orchestra will perform in New York City's famed Lincoln Center this next spring under the leadership of its new conductor, Linn Weeda.

This season features the Symphony's regular concert series (highlighted by the Concerto Concert, a valuable opportunity for the Symphony's talented players to perform as soloists with the Orchestra); a full schedule of performances for local community events; and the well-received, annual concert tour.

The Orchestra is conducted by Linn Weeda, who is a member of the music faculty at the University of Alaska, Anchorage. Mr. Weeda, who was born and raised in Anchorage, is an alumnus of the Anchorage Youth Symphony, a graduate of the University of Alaska, Fairbanks, and is a professional trumpet player and teacher. He studied conducting at Boston University, where he received his Master's Degree in Performance. He also studied at the Pierre Monteux Domaine School for Advanced Conductors, served as staff conductor for the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra, and founded the Tupelo Regional Youth-Community Orchestra in Mississippi.

The Orchestra draws its musicians from the six Anchorage public high schools, the area's private schools, the University, and schools from neighboring communities. One player even commutes from Kodiak, several hundred miles removed from Anchorage. Players range in age from 13 to 21, and are selected by competitive auditions.

The Symphony is sponsored by the Anchorage Youth Symphony Association, Inc., which was formed to support and extend the activities of the Orchestra. The Association provides a summer scholarship program for the Orchestra in addition to sponsoring the concert tours.
